TUESDAY, January 31, 1826. Mr. Tyson presents a petition from Jane White of the city of Baltimore, praying relief; referred to Menny Tyson, Howard, Merrick, Edelin and Thomas, [No report seems to have been made.]

For the Maryland Gazette.

MR. EDITOR:-American enterprise will lev. er its flag to no nation on earth after the year 1836. Every State in the Union is now projecting the most stupendous schemes for unfold. ing and reduplicating its resources, to the exe. cution of which hardy and adventurous citizens yield a ready and intelligent aid-Pennsylvana and Maryland, Philadelphia and Baltimore, in in the van; and the foremost station would sin. ly be Baltimore's, if her respectable and order. ly population would master the spirit of foul and gnorant licentiou ness, which excludes from her precincts the enriching investments of foreign capitaliste, and clenches the hand of bounty stretched out by the sister departments of her State in the spirit of benificent patronage. Bat est week, the Chairman of the Committee of Ways and Means of the Maryland Legislatur, recommended the vast addition of near ten mil. lions of capital to the existing commercial farilities of Baltimore; the liberal and intelligent rounty members of the committee were willing in behalf of their Metropolitan City, to acquire the power of bestowing this bounteous accommodation, by plighting the fath of the whole State for the repayment of a foreign loan. How do the proposed beneficiaries thank them? Her do they induce European resources to invest thems lves within her borders? By reviling the patroness, and exhorting open contumacy to her ioners whom this committee advise should go abroad soliciting the confidence of transatlant wealth, the most unflattering evidence of the character of the contemplated debtors as respects sta bility and confidence-What else can be inferred from the open publication of such sentiments as the annexed, quoted from "Baltimore," whose article appeared in the Baltimore Gazette of Satur. st, and which I ask you to republish. Mr. Merrick, the Chairman of the Committee of Ways and Means, will no doubt receive fresh accession of zeal in behalf of the Monumental City from an incitement to her people to rise in rebellion against the Indomnity Bill which he favourably reported "Penny wise and poend foolish!!!"

"Should such a law be respected? Should it be obeyed? Ought it not to be resisted? To my mind the duty of resistance is as clear, as is the duty of allegiance to the constitution. To the people of Baltimore, and experience renders the advice scarcely necessary, that when the Legis-lature of Maryland is in session, they should be sleeplessly vigilant of all their dearest rigits and priving s. Refore that tribunal, justice, simple justice to Bultimore, is one of those rights often sought for, but never, never found. rone iong observation of the acts and doings of the General Assembly of Maryland, I am strongy inclined to the belief, that they have favoured this scheme of indemnity, not so much from a ove of Justice, but rather because it affords a oretext, to get the Auction duties into their consury, where they will keep them in spite of every consideration, until the day, (not far distant I hope,) when the purifying spirit of Redisperse the menials of injustice."
